How English has developed down the years. Look at the slide here what we did in today's class was just a little bit of warm up a kind of introduction to some major writers and the major their works. Some literary devices we also did some practice tests. We will be doing more of this in our subsequent classes. I suggest you start going through all these writers and their works. This could be very very intense and exhaustive and it is definitely time consuming, so therefore, if you serious about taking such exams you have to start early.

Thank you very much. We will meet again for our next class.
